Tread lightly

The track provides an opportunity to observe natural environment changes compared with Hovell's journal in 1824. Please take care of the track and its facilities and the many plants, trees and animals you will encounter on your journey.

Public transport

Rail or bus connections are available to Yass, Tumut, Tumbarumba and Albury. Yass, Tumut and Albury have a taxi service and many of the accommodation providers in nearby towns maybe able to assist in getting you on the track.

Many school bus routes intersect with the track and offer a pick up or drop off service during school terms. Contact the track co-ordinator for more details.

Mountain bikes

The track has been designed for walkers, however mountain bikes can use sections that utilise firetrails, public or Crown roads. Where the track uses the specifically constructed walking trails (single track) bikes must be pushed or carried. The Hume & Hovell Discovery Kit shows the roads and firetrails and our track co-ordinator may be able to provide additional advice.

Get your discovery kit

To help you to explore the Hume and Hovell Walking Track, the Department of Lands has produced a series of detailed maps. The kit has an index map, six sectional maps and information on walking distances, safety hints, facilities, transport and historical information. To order, fill in the attached order form and send it to our Wagga Wagga office.

Become a friend of the track

Help support the maintenance of the track by becoming a volunteer. Maintenance days are managed by the Department of Lands. Volunteers usually camp at one of the trackheads and transport to track sections is provided by Lands. Tools and equipment are also provided. Contact the walk co-ordinator for more details.

Hume & Hovell Walking Track

Spirit of discovery

Department of Lands Reliable from the ground up

Discover the natural attractions of the Southern Highlands of New South Wales, camp at Lake Burrinjuck and Blowering Reservoir, explore rugged bushland or visit one of many picnic and camping trackheads. Whichever way you look at it, the Hume and Hovell Walking Track has something for everyone.

The Hume and Hovell Walking Track follows the famous footsteps of Hamilton Hume and William Hovell on their expedition to Port Phillip in 1824. Stretching over 440km between Yass and Albury, the track offers a multitude of visually stunning and historically fascinating walking opportunities for outdoor enthusiasts.

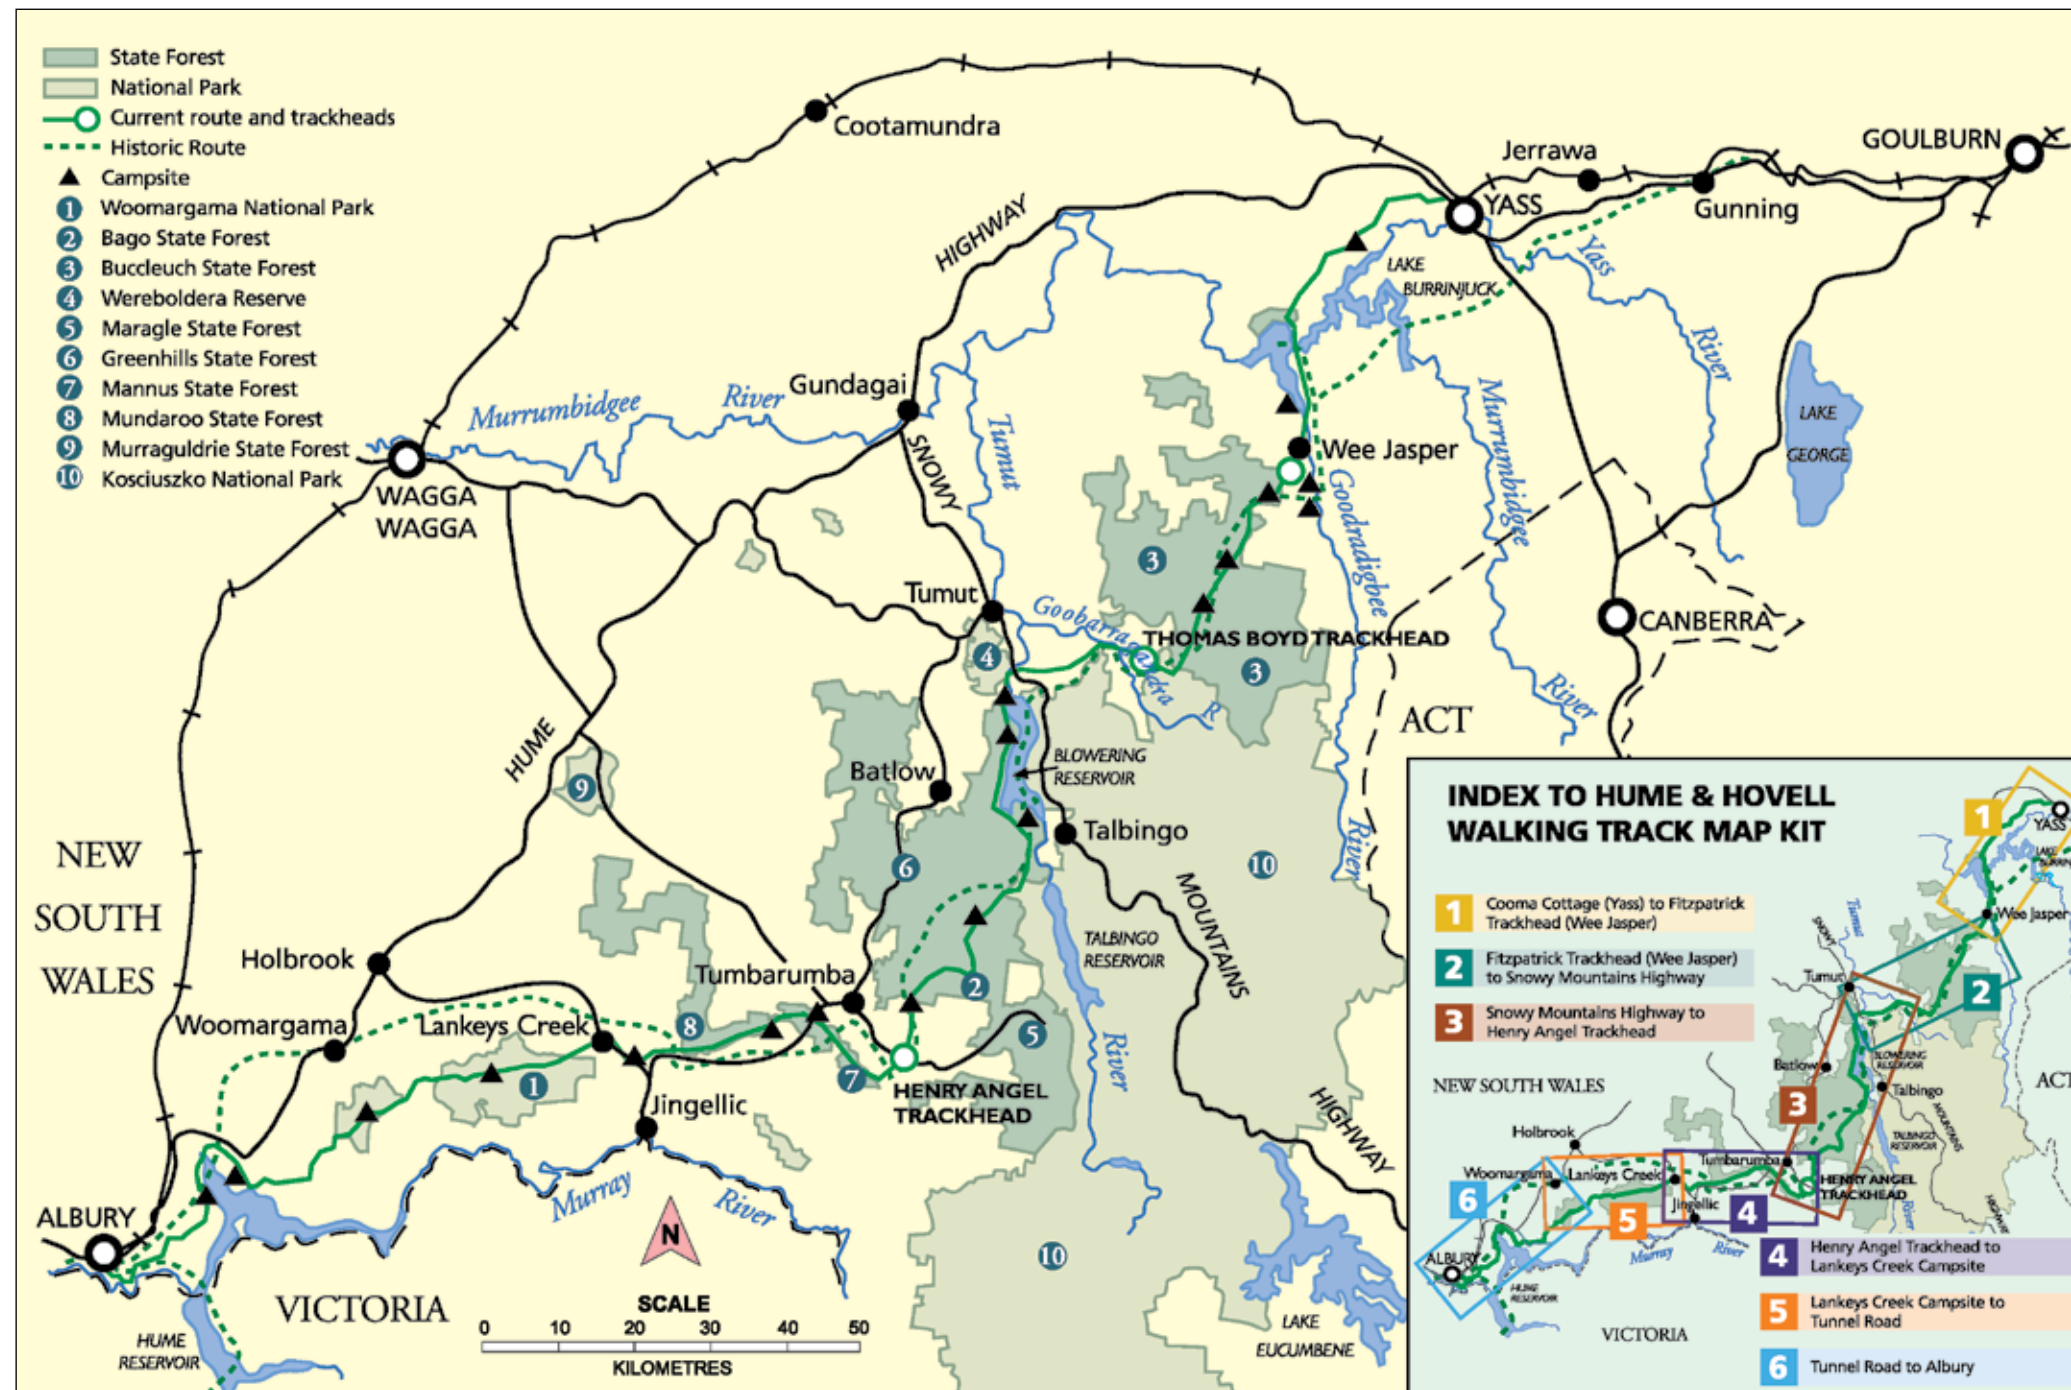

The three major trackheads, Fitzpatrick, Thomas Boyd and Henry Angel offer excellent car-based camping, with varied and interesting day walks in either direction from the trackhead. For the more experienced hiker, 17 campsites have been developed at a days walking distance apart.

Acknowledgement

The Hume and Hovell Walking Track was developed as a Bicentennial project in 1988. It is maintained by the Department of Lands (Lands) with the cooperation and assistance of Forests NSW and the National Parks and Wildlife Service. Lands also acknowledges the contribution of many private landholders who have cooperated to help make this project a reality.
